

Respected Sir/Madam,

This is with reference to your advertisement that I am prompted to propose my candidature.

I have contributed over 8+ years to IT industry where I have been instrumental in solving the complex data problems. I have keen interest in designing the solutions for data science related products. A true team builder and natural motivator with strong analytical and problem-solving skills, richly awarded for my performance. I hold the responsibility of keeping my energy levels and performance standards up and high. With strong back-up of professional accomplishments I am looking for a new opportunity with an organization of high repute. After going through with the job requirements, I am confident that I will be able to contribute significantly to the project. My skills and hands-on experience explains the fitment for the job.

A tour through my enclosed resume shall familiarize you with the details and I am confident in my credentials that you would find a perfect match for the said position.

Thanks in advance for sparing your time.

Shall much appreciate a call for an interview?

Thanks & Regards,

Ankit